5 Bollingbrook Street,

Petersburg, Va., September 13. Men and women delegates to the Ba-raca-Philathea State Convention to the number of more than 200 arrived in the city to-day, active and enthusiceived by committees, registered at headquarters and assigned to their homes. In this work everything was done with system and order. The reception committee, of which Miss Lulu Hack is chairman, and composed of representatives from all the churches, met the delegates at all the incoming trains and escorted them to headquartrains and escorted them to head the ters at the corner of Washington and Union Streets, where the registration committee, of which O. G. Winfield is chairman, took charge of them and saw them to their homes.

The convention met to-night in the auditorium of the Lee Public School, on Washington Street, where a reception was extended the delegates, and where the addresses of welcome and response were the principal exercises.

The welcome to the communication of the comm by Mayor Robert Cabaniss; that on schaif of the local Baraca-Philathea Roper, D. D. O. G. Timberlake, of Richmond, president of the State Simpson, descendant of William S. Simpson, responded on behalf of the delegates. The addresses were all in fine taste, and elicited hearty approval. IN MEMORIAM

RICHARDSON.—As the lily is gathered while in its purity and perfection, to be bourne in our bosom, so, while yet in the fulness and freshness of her beautiful young womanhood, our beloved JOSIE MAY RICHARDSON was plucked by the all-wise God from the garden of our hearts to be bourne in His own bosom.

Gone from us in the flesh, thou hast left to us a goodly heritage in a life well spent. A life pure as the lily in all its fragrance and beauty; a monument more beautiful and lasting than any graven in contliest marble—such hast thou left to guide and becken us on to our heavenly home. home.

While we cannot stop the falling tear, nor repress a sigh as we gaze on the vacant seat, we bow in humble submission to the all-wise God, who lent to us, if even for a little while, a life so sweet, so full and rich, and a character so strong; an obedient, dutiful daughter, a loving self-sacrificing sister, a true, loyal friend, and a faithful, devoted Christian.

Sleep on, beloved, sleep and take thy Lay down thy head upon thy Saviour's breast;
We loved thee well, but Jesus loved thee best,
Good night, good night, good night,
MARIE BELLE BURTON.

GRUBBS.—In memory of LENA M. GRUBBS, who died September 14, 1912, one year ago to-day. United on the beautiful shore
